

American Soldiers Charging On the German Lines

THE BARBED WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS SEEN IN THE PICTURE HAVE BEEN PARTLY DESTROYED BY ARTILLERY FIRE, BUT THEY STILL OFFER CONSIDERABLE HINDRANCE TO THE AMERICANS WHO ARE EAGER TO GET AT THE ENEMY.

(© Committee on Public Information, from Underwood and Underwood.)

COMPANY M AND COMPANY K, 336TH INFANTRY OF THE 82D DIVISION, MOVING AT THE DOUBLE QUICK, ARE HERE SHOWN CHARGING THE ENEMY'S LINE, WHILE THE 307TH ENGINEERS ARE CLEARING THE WAY FOR THEM.

(© Committee on Public Information, from International Film Service.)

AMERICAN TROOPS CHARGING IN SUCCESSIVE WAVES AGAINST A STORM OF MACHINE-GUN BULLETS, AND CLIMBING A SLOPE TO TAKE THE CREST WHICH IS STRONGLY HELD BY THE ENEMY.

(© Committee on Public Information, from Underwood and Underwood.)